WEST CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 17.—Love, as usual, found a way, and so today 14-year-old Alice Jenkins and her parents' farm hand, Tigham Henry Johnson, 29, were on their honeymoon despite a boycott of their marriage plans by a minister and justices of the peace.

Turned away by the pastor of the child-bride's church, who refused to perform the ceremony because of Alice's age, the couple went "shoping around" last night for a justice

Although the issuing of their marriage license was approved by Chester County Judge W. Butler Windle, Justice of the Peace Raymond M. ### PA NEW OBSERVES

Folks might wonder a little about the maximum temperature recording of 73 degrees, which is shown in today's report, for the period ending last evening at 5 o'clock. That was the temperature when the thermometer was set at 5 p.m. on Thursday evening. The highest temperature during the day yesterday didn't mark that mark. Pa New is informed by Weather Observer B. F. Johnson.

This afternoon, one of Pa New's boys expects to go out to his garden and pick several quarts of nice red raspberries, if the birds, grasshoppers, and Young America haven't beaten him to it. They are quite a tasty dish at this season of the year.

Czech Government Fights For Territorial Integrity

By GEORGE LANGWELL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PRAGUE, Sept. 17.—Ernst Kunda, one of the chief lieutenants of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten Deutsche party leader, issued a proclamation today appealing to Sudeten Germans to await the outcome of the "fateful conversations" between Chancellor Hitler and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain on the explosive Czech crisis.

"Don't allow yourselves to be led astray by suspension of the Sudeten party," the proclamation said.

"Whether parties are to remain in Czechoslovakia is no longer the decisive issue."

"What is decisive is the fate of Germanism and our homeland. Until a decision is taken, remain fair. Let your nerves be as steel. God is with us!"

Fights For Territorial Integrity

Meanwhile, as defiant as if she were a major military power, Czechoslovakia fought to save her territorial integrity from the Sudeten annexation plans broached by Hitler.

The attitude of the government drew the fire of Kunda, who declared:

"The government, under pressure of short-sighted elements does not yet realize that the gravest decisions impend."

Meanwhile the Czech press unan-

More Schools Being Planned Within County

Seven School Districts Contemplating Additions Or New Buildings

BIG BUILDING BOOM INDICATED

In addition to the action which has been started by Neshannock Township and Wampum Borough, toward the construction of new buildings, it was revealed today by County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling that five other rural school districts have building projects under contemplation, some of which have progressed to the point where plans are being drawn.

These schools will be financed by the state and Federal government under the provisions of the Thompson Bill, passed recently by the legislature, which provides an outright grant to the district of 45 per cent of the cost of the structure, and the payment of the remaining 55 per cent over a period of 30 years at a low rate of interest.

In addition, the state has made provision to pay a portion of the 55 per cent of the cost, depending on the true property valuation in back of each teacher employed in the district, based on a property valuation of $25,000 per teacher. This state assistance amounts to from 10 to 80 per cent of the cost. The state also reimburses districts where schools are closed to the amount of $200 per year for each school closed.

No U. S. Loans For Belligerents

United States Will Not Finance Purchases Of War Materials

SECRETARY HULL INDICATES STAND

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—If war breaks out in Europe belligerent nations cannot look to the United States for loans or credits to finance their war machines or for guns, planes or shells to use against the enemy.

Secretary of State Hull clearly indicated today, when he declared the state department is not sponsoring a revision of either the neutrality act or the Johnson act. The neutrality act makes mandatory an embargo on sales of arms, ammunition and implements of war to the warring countries if President Roosevelt finds a "state of war" to exist. Presidential action would be discretionary in the event of an "undeclared conflict" but would be automatic if the nations declared war.

The Johnson act forbids defaulting war debtors nations from floating loans in this country. Germany, Czechoslovakia, Britain and France are all included in this ban.

President Avoids Discussion Of European Situation In Constitution Speech

RADIO ADDRESS IS MADE DURING DAY

By GEORGE DUNNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Carefully avoiding any reference to the grave war crisis abroad, President Roosevelt today in a radio-address assailed the "professional fear-mongers of 1938" who he said are retarding the nation's progress.

The executive's talk was broadcast from the White House's oval room to the Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) celebration of the 150th anniversary of that state's ratification of the constitution.

Mr. Roosevelt drew a parallel between those who opposed ratification of the federal document in 1788, and those who today are afraid to move forward.

"Believe me," Mr. Roosevelt asserted, "the viewers with alarm, the patrons of ghosts and bogoblins in those days had little to learn from the professional fear-mongers of 1938."

"Then, as now, there were men and women afraid of the future—distrustful of their own ability to meet changed conditions; shortsighted in their dog-in-the-manger conception of local and national needs."

It was with pride that the president recalled that his great great-grandfather, Isaac Roosevelt, sat in the New York convention 150 years ago and cast his vote with the slim majority in favor of ratification of the federal constitution.

"No Bill of Rights"

Turning back the pages of history, Mr. Roosevelt reminded his invisible audience that the very large minority which opposed the constitution's adoption, finally hit upon the

President Will Cancel His Trips

Decides To Remain At White House Indefinitely Due To Czech Crisis

NOT LIKELY TO GO TO CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—As Europe continued to teeter on the brink of war, President Roosevelt today decided to remain in the nation's capital indefinitely.

The president, it was learned in responsible quarters, regards the crisis over Nazi Germany's demand on Czechoslovakia far too serious to absent himself from the White House at this time.

Unless the crisis eases to a marked degree—and this did not appear likely in the very near future—the president probably will remain in Washington for the next 10 days, at least.

To that end, the president early today cancelled a scheduled trip to Chattanooga, Tenn., next Tuesday, where he was to have attended the 75th anniversary of the battle of Chattanooga. For the same reason he earlier called off a trip today to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for the celebration of the 150th anniversary of New York's ratification of the constitution. He spoke to the celebrants, instead over the radio from the White House oval room at 10:15 this morning.

Salespeople Will Hear Pittsburgh C. Of C. Man

Henry W. Stanley, director of the trade extension bureau of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce since January of this year, will be the speaker at the first of a series of public mass meetings for New Castle salespeople in the Senior high school auditorium Thursday evening, September 22.

Stanley's acceptance was announced today by Louis B. Round, general chairman of the local National Salesmen's Crusade forces, sponsors of the mass meetings.

For seven years before coming to Pittsburgh, Stanley directed the trade extension division of the Chamber of Commerce of Dallas, Texas, and his work there won him national recognition. Prior to his Texas service he was active in merchandising and newspaper work.

Not many weeks ago he addressed members of the New Castle Lions club at a weekly luncheon.

The public meetings, General Chairman Round pointed out, will take the form of a sales clinic and are open to salespeople who want to hear a renowned business leader speak on a subject of vital importance to them.

Other prominent speakers will be heard on other dates.

A meeting of the general committee for the "Sales Men Jobs" campaign has been called for Monday, September 19 at 4 p. m., in the Penn. Power building. Plans for the mass meetings will be completed at that time.

Fire Truck Upsets; Fireman Is Killed

Twelve Others Injured In Mishap As Truck Is Returning From Celebration

(International News Service)
LECHBURG, Pa., Sept. 17.—E. C. Haven, 60, the oldest active member of the Lechburg volunteer fire department, was killed and 12 others were injured today when a combination fire truck upset two miles from here.

The firemen were returning from a celebration in Fayette county, authorities said, when the truck skidded as it rounded a turn on the Greensburg road. The truck rolled over once, and Haven was caught beneath it. Wrecking crews were required to lift the truck to recover his body, police said.

Dale Hawk and John Gesser, riding on the truck at the time of the accident and later treated for minor injuries, were the first to free themselves from the wreckage and managed to rouse residents in the neighborhood, who telephoned for physicians and ambulances, according to authorities.

Fire Chief R. M. Groves said the accident apparently was caused by dampness forming on the macadam road.

Woman Enters Plea Of Guilty In Mercer Trial

Makes Surprise Plea Just As Case Is About To Go To Jury

(International News Service)
MERCER, Pa., Sept. 17.—Two persons, including a woman, will be sentenced next Monday, while a third is expected to go on trial for the filling station slaying of Howard Sidley, Grove City tavern keeper, in March, 1936.

Unexpected developments, which have featured the case since the day the young man was found lying on the floor with his head split open, were climaxed yesterday when, within 30 minutes before the jury was slated to get her case, Mrs. Frances Hoffman Day, 33-year-old blonde of Oil City, entered a plea of guilty to the charges of murder, manslaughter and robbery.

To Try Goodwin

Unless he changes his mind and also enters a plea, Fred Goodwin, 46, oil well driller of Worth township, will go on trial next Monday.

He will be arraigned before Judge G. H. Rowley next Monday to hear the decree of the crime and his sentence.

Talmadge Challenges George's Vote

George Refrains From Comment

Investigation Being Made Of Georgia Primary Vote Says Talmadge

UNOFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS GEORGE WINS

(International News Service) ATLANTA, Sept. 17.—Renomination of U. S. Senator Walter F. George in last Wednesday's Democratic primary was challenged today by former Governor Talmadge, runner-up in the contest.

Talmadge last night announced in a radio speech that he was conducting a private investigation embracing the entire state of Georgia to discover whether there were any irregularities in George's victory. He said his investigation already had indicated that he won enough counties to give him more than the 200 "county-unit" votes required for nomination in Georgia's complicated primary system.

George Won Big Victory

Complete unofficial returns showed that Senator George, whose "purge" was demanded by President Roosevelt, won a smashing victory. These returns gave George 242 county-unit votes—28 more than the required majority—to 148 for Talmadge and 20 for Lawrence Camp, aggressive new dealer who was the president's choice.

Challenging these figures, Talmadge said:

"You won't stop frauds in elections unless you have contests. The greatest service I can render Georgia is, if the facts warrant it, to file contest in the senate election."

He added, however, that if his investigation proves he was fairly beaten, he will give the facts to the public.

Senator George had no immediate comment on Talmadge's statement.

scheme of protesting it contained no bill of rights.

The compromise finally worked out placed New York state on record for ratification "in full faith and confidence" that the first congress to meet would promptly submit a bill of rights to the several states.

"I do not know that it is necessary to elaborate on this parable or text," Mr. Roosevelt said. "It is perhaps sufficient for me to say that when in almost every generation between 1789 and 1893 the American people have been faced with similar decisions, they have in the long run expressed their 'full faith and confidence' in the integrity and safety of the national concept."

Men as great as the men who wrote the constitution were needed in every succeeding generation to administer it, the president declared.

"And the greatest of them have been the men who have sought to make the constitution workable in the face of the new problems and conditions that have faced the nation from year to year," he added.

tically by the golfers. They were a long while in getting that course, and would no doubt put up a bitter fight to retain it. The idea back of the recommendation was that if the inmates of the home had the land, they could cultivate it and help to provide something toward their upkeep. It is doubtful, however, if they would be able to do much farming. Most of them are old and not able to work, and the remainder are too busy playing cards and checkers.

Cameras are clicking out at Portersville as twenty one property owners are taking pictures of their widening highway. On next Monday night the borough council will open bids for the removal of buildings, and if they prove satisfactory, Portersville is going to see more activity than she has ever seen during all the years of her history. The removal of buildings is necessary to widen the Perry highway into a four lane traffic road. Unfortunately, Portersville, like a great many towns, laid out in early times has her houses close to the road. Landscape artists were unknown in those days.

Since the passage of the Thompson act, districts in need of additional school facilities, are offered an opportunity to get new buildings on unusual terms. Districts can secure an outright government grant to start with. Then the Federal State Authority will finance the remainder and give the building to the school district on a rental basis, covering thirty years. This saves the trouble of a bond issue. The proposition is alluring enough to districts in actual need of school buildings, but where actual need does not exist, school boards should not be tempted by grants and long term payments to plunge into unnecessary debt.

They are already carrying heavy burdens, and it's well to remember what the last straw did to the camel.

A Crawford Avenue man, stepping into a beauty parlor and seeing his wife all geared up for a permanent wave, declared that was carrying funny hat styles a little too far.

This only goes to show that a man knows about as much about a hat style as he does about feeding a baby. There are really some very ignorant men when it comes to women's hats. They never seem to notice that the rims of the hats as well as the crowns vary, and if either is a quarter inch larger or smaller than last fall, the hat is out of style; also the rims may be wider than last year and down this year.

The world makes all the difference in power is responsible for many an argument when my lady wants a new hat. There are schools that teach everything from polishing fingernails to applying lipstick, but men are allowed to flounder around in perfect ignorance of hat styles.

their feeling was one of "cautious optimism." The cabinet session finally ended for the day at 5:39 p. m. (12:39 p. m. EDT) after having been in session since 10 o'clock in the morning with only a recess for luncheon.

Seek Stiffer Attitude

Reporting on Hitler's demand for satisfactory settlement of the Sudeten crisis by Oct. 1, Chamberlain found some of his younger colleagues advocating a much stiffer attitude than he himself favors.

They expressed themselves unprepared to subscribe officially to the current official viewpoint that the bad compromise would be better than war. This was the attitude of former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who quit his post in opposition to Chamberlain's alleged "trucking" to the dictators.

Despite the opposition, the cabinet as a whole recessed with a feeling of "cautious optimism." It was understood the ministers had decided to invite Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France at the earliest possible moment.

Following long statements by Chamberlain and Viscount Runciman, various members of the cabinet headed by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon and Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare made analytical comments in which they generally supported the prime minister, characterizing his talk with Hitler as "helpful."

Turn To King George

As the cabinet recessed at 1:30 p. m. to meet again an hour and a half later, the eyes of a sorely troubled England turned hopefully to King George.

Viscount Runciman, British mediator in the Czech dispute, rushed to Buckingham Palace for a luncheon interview with the monarch. If a cabinet split impedes, his advice and counsel would be sought immediately, but in addition to this factor many observers professed to see that the sovereign playing an active role in the crucial efforts to avert war.

It was recalled that he returned to London hastily from Balmoral, Scotland, when Chamberlain undertook his dramatic flight to Berchtesgaden. When the prime minister stepped from his plane at Heston airport yesterday, he immediately was handed a three-page letter from his king. While its contents were not made known, it was obvious the missive was concerned with the European crisis.

For weeks it has been rumored that King George planned some open contribution to solution of the problem, such as a personal message to Reichsfuehrer Hitler. But while such a drastic measure now is regarded as unlikely, King George would have plenty of precedent for moving with all the might and prestige of his sovereignty, in behalf of peace.

EDNA EMMINGER TO WED A. ZEIGLER, OCTOBER 23

A lovely announcement party took place Friday evening, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cunningham, corner of Chestnut and East Washington streets, when the latter entertained informally a group of guests at a dinner-dance, as a medium of making known the coming marriage of Miss Edna Emminger and Almon W. Zeigler.

The occasion, taking the form of a surprise, was cleverly carried out in the nuptial motif. Tempting dessert was served at 7:30 o'clock at daintily appointed tables, tones of pink and gold predominating. Individual bud vases holding a single rose, formed the centerpiece of the four small tables. Unique, were the "top hat" favors, the art of the hostess, which marked each place. Designed of pink crepe paper, the hats were found turned upside down, and held numerous, bordering the edge of the gold trim of these miniatures, was a mild rose bud, and coiled inside the petals was a tiny scroll bearing the news—"Edna and Zeigler—October 23, 1938." Much excitement ensued, and the bride-to-be was showered with many good wishes by those surrounding her.

Bridegroom, in the remaining hours, with pretty awards falling to Miss Edna Emminger and Mrs. Kenneth Richmond, the latter of Mercer. The drawing prize was carried off by Miss Eva King. A beautiful gold and crystal gift was presented to Miss Emminger from the Cunningham family, at the close of the evening.

Aides were Mrs. Charles Sankey and Miss Edna Sankey, mother and sister of the bride, from Leoburg. Miss Emminger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Emminger of North Mercer street, and Mr. Zeigler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Zeigler of Moody avenue.

Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHAT TEACHERS SHOULD EXPECT OF PARENTS

Rightly the teacher expects more of us parents, as a rule, than we give. She expects us to send her a child who is healthy, self-reliant, and co-operative. She expects us to send her a child who is a good citizen in the home and the community—with wholesome regard for the rights of others; a child who measures up to responsibility and gets along happily with other children.

She expects the child to reveal good home training, to have learned there the unambiguous meaning of the word "no" (rarely heard), and respect for authority. She expects him to co-operate for the best interest of all the children of the school.

Rightly the teacher expects of us parents that we see to it that the child shall always appear at school promptly, that we shall have trained him at home in such habits of responsibility that he will always be in his proper place at the proper time, alert and ready for each enterprise that is assigned this group.

Rightly the teacher expects us parents to have educated our child in citizenship so well that he will never appropriate, mar or disturb any property on the way between the home and school; that, moreover, he will be worrying the teacher about fights and quarrels with other children.

We parents can't give our child a well-rounded education in good citizenship unless we set the stage at home that he shall have learned to get on well with other children of his own age in the home neighborhood. No more can a child learn this by being alone than he can learn to swim without water.

Child Learns Responsibility

The teacher has a right to expect that our child has learned at home to be dependable, so that when he volunteers to do something or is directed to do it, he can be counted on to pursue the job faithfully and see it through to the end. As soon as home study assignments are made the teacher expects the child to do these assignments always on time. Moreover, the teacher has a right to expect us parents to have trained the child in truthfulness and honesty—lying and stealing practically always begin at home.

Since we parents want our children to grow at school in good habits and ideals of character and citizenship, we shall have cultivated in these children at home these very traits. Considering the raw materials we parents give the teacher for educating in citizenship, I believe she is doing an exceptionally good job.

The average teacher might do a still better job at educating children in citizenship if educators were to cease trying to work merely on the child, but would learn better ways of winning the co-operation of his parents. All the school can do is to build on the best the home provides; and the basic character traits of the child are pretty well established before the school gets him. I wonder what teachers think about this article. Always glad to hear from them as well as parents.

THE CARE-FREE MAN

"I'd like to know one day," said he, "Completely care and worry-free. When done with dread and fear and doubt."

I'd nothing have to fret about. In all my years I've never known A day that I could call my own; A day, when heat or cold, or rain, Or debt, or duty, loss, or pain, Or disappointment, hate or strife Were not disturbances of life.

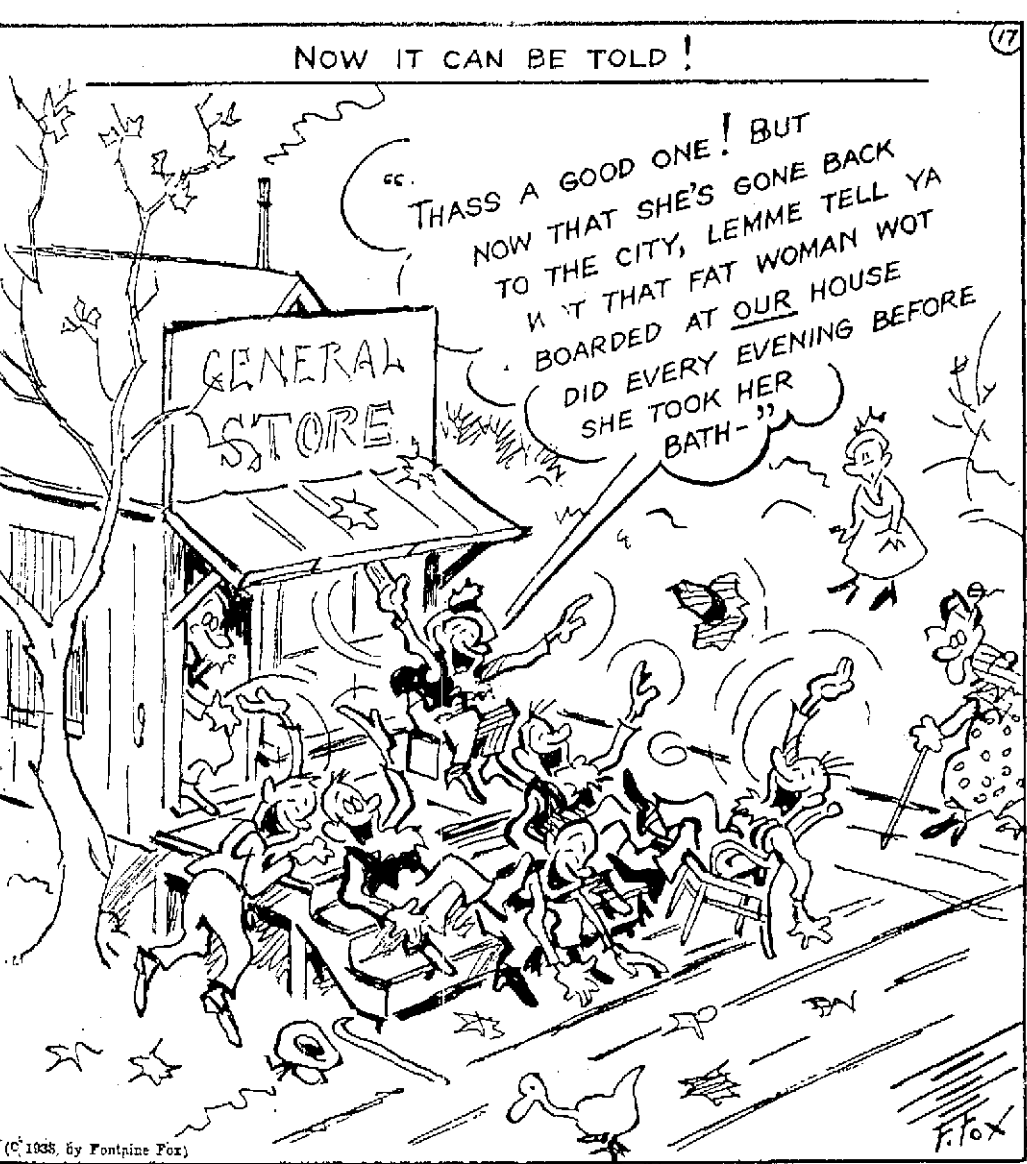

I'd like to go from sun to sun Just once, with care and worry done!

And then one morning he was told: "Today the weather's bitter cold. But whether cold or weather hot Forever would matter not."

They said: "The gas bill must be paid!" But if he heard no sign he made. They talked of taxes! Not a sigh! Of business failures! No reply! Of despair or trouble him no more. The man had died the night before.

Farmers Are Manufacturers Too
Is Producer Of Basic Stuff Only
Entomologist Has Queer IdeasBy CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17.—Secretary Wallace's Agriculture department reports indicate that unfavorable weather toward the summer's end had cut down this year's American farm production a trifle below earlier advance estimates. The odd feature of the situation is that practically all expert commentators on these reports express themselves in a tone of considerable satisfaction. They are not unequally satisfied, because the weather was not as bad as it might have been. Consequently our crop failures have been inadequate. Nevertheless they have been somewhat beneficial. When I speak of this as an odd way of looking at the matter, I mean to say that it would have been so considered years ago, when I lived in the wheat, corn and hog belt. A poor growing season in that era rated as a public calamity. To be sure, farmers complained that prices were low when they had bumper yields, whereas they didn't have anything to sell when figures were high, due to drought, hail or grasshoppers. Still, I never heard it argued that big crops were a curse or that semi-famine was a blessing.

A NOVEL PLAN
The other day an acquaintance of mine suggested to me a novel plan for agriculture's benefit.

I mustn't identify him too closely. In the first place, he was sarcastic; he didn't mean what he said. Secondly, he was insulting to the New Farmers.

The World
AND THE Mud Puddles

Have you ever been to Battle Creek, Mich.? If you have not and can find any excuse for visiting that city, you should do it if you are interested in "selling" New Castle.

I do not for a moment suggest by this that you would find it necessary to go to the Battle Creek Sanitarium, but the Battle Creek Sanitarium is in the background of the prosperity of Battle Creek. I don't know the exact history of the men who were the original promoters of that Sanitarium, but they were men of imagination, for out of that Sanitarium came the idea of Breakfast Food. BREAKFAST FOOD is Battle Creek.

A genius by the name of Post found that there was a great many people in the world who eschewed coffee. To them coffee was poison. If they drank it for dinner or in the evening, they would not sleep that night. So Mr. Post manufactured something that looked like coffee and tasted like coffee, but was not coffee, a perfectly harmless drink. Mr. Post knew the value of advertising and he advertised this in season back and out of season, until today there is a plant in Battle Creek, not only making Postum, but many foods.

Then there was Kellogg who went in for more breakfast foods, and his plants are at Battle Creek. There are others of the same nature, all occasioned by some wise thinking, ingenious men, operating the Battle Creek Sanitarium.

These plants are beautiful affairs. Naturally, they are the clearest manufacturing plants that can be found in America and the workmen are a contented body of men and women. Their homes reflect the prosperity of the business and it can be said, I think, without question, that there are no depressions in this food business.

An old citizen of New Castle—now gone to his fathers—was Jerry Bauman. He once said to me: "If you want to make something and make some money out of that article, it wants to be something that is consumed every day, completely."

Jerry went into the ice cream business after finding that his "Little Blue Bag" lasted too long, and he profited there. He sold his ice cream as fast as he could make it and it is so with the foods of Battle Creek. They are consumed as fast as they are made.

Battle Creek has something else, as naturally a city of that kind should have. They make agricultural implements, printing presses, automobile axles, wrapping machines, gas and electric stoves, mail wagons and drays, steam pumps, structural steel, steel and wire specialties, candy, aluminum cooking utensils, automobile accessories and not to overlook anything in the food business, dog foods.

You "sellers" of New Castle observe how other cities of America have prospered and don't think with single-track minds.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

The 'Big Dog' Catches Up

Washington, Sept. 17.

ONE OF the most politically seasoned men in the country, long a factor in the Democratic party, insists that in politics as in everything else "the Big Dog always catches up in the end." The "Big Dog" is this gentleman's unique and individual name for Truth, and it is his profound conviction that candidates and leaders who make a practice of talking one way and acting the other, eventually and inevitably are overtaken and defeated.

NOW that the primaries by which Mr. Roosevelt proposed to "purge" the party of nine Democratic Senators who had opposed his effort to pack the Supreme Court are over, and all nine have successfully survived, it does seem that it would be hard to find a better example of the "Big Dog" catching up than has been given. Over a period of five years, the Roosevelt record is largely composed of acts which have contradicted his words. The promises he made in his 1932 campaign and the platform upon which he was then elected have long ago been repudiated and the direction in which he has been going is anything but the direction in which he pointed. It is true that there is a plausible, if not convincing, defense for the radical change in his course; and his amazing inconsistencies either have been defended on the ground of necessity—or passed over without explanation, apology or excuse.

"THE BIG DOG" seemed far behind and the President moved so bewilderingly fast and with such seeming success that it was impossible effectively to pin his contradictions on him. At least, that seemed the case until the recent primaries. In the Maryland and Georgia results the "Big Dog" caught up with a rush and today after an unprecedented interference in the politics of the States and an unparalleled use of the Federal machinery in the effort to have his way, the fact that the President takes one way and acts the other is so glaringly apparent that only those who refuse to look can fail to see.

THERE was never a President so caught in his own contradictions. For example, less than a year ago the mere suggestion that he would take any part in the local politics of even his own State of New York so angered Mr. Roosevelt that he privately reproached newspaper men who ventured to ask if he were interested in the New York city primary for Mayor, and he had his secretary, Mr. McIntire, issue a statement denouncing the report. In part, the statement read as follows: "The President repeated for the thousandth time that he has not taken part in any local primary election except in his own home town and home county." It certainly would be difficult to be more emphatic or clearer than this. The statement of Mr. Roosevelt's asserting that he would not take part in any State primary was repeated by him again and again in his press conferences. It was his stock answer to every question as to whether he had a choice in this or that primary—and it always irritated him to be asked the question.

YET, in the face of this, he personally and openly entered into the primaries in Kentucky, South Carolina, Maryland and Georgia. And in Maryland the whole weight of the Federal machine was used to back his personal intervention, though eight years ago he had made this solemn declaration—at a time when there was actually no interference comparable in openness and extent to that in which he later indulged—"We, in this State, in every city and on every farm, know the high propriety of interference by the Federal Government in the purely local affairs of any State and we are fully conscious of the effective manner in which the people of this great State will show at the polls their resentment at such interference."

IT SEEMS almost beyond belief that a President of the United States who has made statements as unequivocal as these should either so completely forget his publicly expressed convictions; or believe that everybody else would forget them; or so wholly change his point of view; or think that he could safely ignore his own recorded words and abandon his publicly professed principles when it seemed politically expedient to do so. Of course, one can never really tell what is in another man's mind and it is just a guess as to how Mr. Roosevelt reconciles himself to the open violation of his own pledges against participation in party primaries and to his extraordinary repudiation of his own denunciation of Federal interference. Perhaps he doesn't try to reconcile himself. In any event what he did in these primaries was so completely at odds with what he had said that his most partial friends are at a loss to explain and the results constitute one of the most striking bluffs ever given the titular leader of a great party. "The Big Dog" certainly appears to be catching up.

Deal's so-called "philosophy of security." To quote him inevitably would involve him in trouble with his superiors.

Anybody who is a bug specialist or entomologist in the agriculture department. This chap's proposition is that we ought to encourage pestiferous insects to make the most of the ones we have already, and to import new kinds, even as the Japanese beetle is a comparatively recent immigrant.

It's a fantastic notion, certainly. All the same, about half a decade past, the idea was hatched at Dixie, that a monument ought to be erected somewhere in the southland to the boll weevil, as a restraint upon cotton overproduction.

Need I remark that that was a josh also? Still, as my entomological friend observes, bugs are a lot more effective than any amount of unplantings and plowings-under, and it's hard to slaughter little pigs as fast as hog cholera kills them automatically.

Moreover, bugs and germs are impartial. A lang-own can un-plant his own land or plow it under and be indemnified for doing so. A tenant farmer, however, has no land of his own, nor to plant on or to plow under. He can't very well rent land not to plant on, or to plant on and then plow under.

To sands mixey, but it's equally sound economically. HAD SHOT AT IT Besides, I think a lot of our farmers are slightly cuckoo. I'm not once of a farmer but I ran a farm once—in South America. I had a cow, which gave all the milk I needed. I had pigs, and ate one occasionally. I had chickens which laid eggs for me, and, being eating, I raised my own vegetables. In short, I set my own table. If necessary I burned corn for fuel. I wore no clothes to speak of.

I didn't need much cash money except for my primitive wants—like tobacco and alcohol. If I'd been enterprising probably I could have supplied those too.

But a North American farmer plants nothing but wheat or corn or cotton or tobacco. He's dependent on condensed milk, canned fruit and vegetables, meat from a butcher shop and miscellany from a grocery. He can't eat raw wheat or cotton.

He isn't a farmer. He's a manufacturer of basic stuff. It isn't an agricultural problem.

Rev. F. M. Pilzys Speaking Sunday In Polish Church

"Characteristic Traits of Christianity" is the topic of a sermon to be delivered Sunday by Rev. F. M. Pilzys in the Holy Trinity Polish National Catholic church on the South Side.

The young clergyman is a local boy well known in the Polish circles of the city and prior to his answer to the call of priesthood he took part in civic and religious activities of the Polish community.

For the last several years he has attended the seminary of the Hieronym Savonarola located in Scranton, Pa., and recently completed his theological and philosophical studies. During his stay in New Castle, while on vacation, his parents he has been filling the pulpit delivering interesting discourses.

High solemn mass will be at 10:30 Sunday morning with Rev. A. Walchewicz, pastor of the parish, officiating.

"Ladies are still embarrassed when their petticoats show." Well, it's nice to know they feel that way about something.

It may be that no two are alike, but infants, wives, only sons and dictators are affected the same way by too much petting.

He saw Douglas Corrigan when he landed his famous airplane at the Glendale Airport, and witnessed the parade held for him in Los Angeles.

The local youth is registered at the MacKenzie Hotel in Glendale, but he did not state in his letter how long he would remain on the coast.

News Briefs In Ward Area

Workmen from the City of New Castle Water Company have made an excavation along Atlantic avenue, just above the Crawford-Oakridge Children's home. New water pipe is being placed at this spot along the road.

It has been noticed in the Seventh ward that a number of the street signs, erected last year, have been willfully damaged by someone. Many of the signs have been bent double so that no one is able to read them.

A report from the Seventh Ward branch library gives an indication that school children are fond of reading. Since the opening of the Mahoning school, there has been a decided increase in circulation at this branch library.

For a look at something really interesting, one need only to make a visit to the home of the Turners Corner of Clayton and Cedar streets. In a pen in the rear of this residence is a collection of odd looking birds which resemble both chickens and turkeys.

Although it is rather late in the season, it has been noticed that quite a number of Seventh Ward home owners are having their structures painted.

Present Demands To W.P.A. Officials

Delegation Makes Visit To W. P. A. Headquarters On Friday Afternoon

While their mates stood outside in a picket line, a delegation of ten WPA workers presented a list of demands to Walter N. Todd, district supervisor Friday afternoon in the WPA building. The delegation was headed by three men, Harry Francis, president of the Workers Alliance as chairman, Thomas Hanlon and Sam Reed.

In the list were some demands that concerned policy set by the local authorities and in these Mr. Todd agreed to make some adjustments. Others which required the attention of Harry L. Hopkins in Washington D. C., he told the men he could do nothing about.

The major demand was for a 20 per cent increase in wages and an equalization with the larger cities. This Mr. Todd can do nothing about except forward the request of the workers, he said. Other demands included reinstatement of men laid off, increase the quota for Lawrence county by 1000, protect labor rights of workers on projects, disciplinary action against foreman who discharge men instead of sending in their recommendations to the headquarters office, formation of a board of review to consider cases of discharge and layoff, the board to consist of representatives of the Workers Alliance, the Committee of the Unemployed and representatives of the WPA, no suspension or transfers for union activity, a six hour day and five day week in the winter weather.

Of these Mr. Todd agreed that there should be no transfers for union activity, that foremen would be instructed in their powers concerning discharges, that he had received instructions to reinstate 500 workers in the district, which would return 271 single cases in Lawrence county and that the matter of a board of review would receive consideration.

The interview with the WPA authorities was orderly, as were the pickets outside. The interview started about 3:45 and lasted until after five o'clock.

King Visiting Buick Factory

With the introduction of new Buick models scheduled in the near future, E. J. King left for Flint, Michigan today to visit the Buick factories and take an advance look at the forthcoming line of cars.

The occasion, he said, is the annual pre-announcement sales convention of the nationwide Buick dealer organization being held in Flint Sept. 15 to 22, at which the new cars are shown to the dealers for the first time and the 1939 sales program discussed.

He said that word from the factory indicates that an enlarged program will be undertaken for 1939 in view of the encouraging business outlook and the increased demand for automobiles which already is being felt.

"We have had a very satisfactory year with the 1938 models," Mr. E. J. King said. "Buick ended the model year in fourth place on a national basis and obtained a much bigger share of the total automobile business than last year."

"I believe that business now is definitely on the rise and that we are going into a year of further improvement. Indications are that all lines of trade will show gains during the last quarter of this year and that 1939 will see a good measure of recovery. Production and employment should be at substantially higher levels with beneficial results in every phase of retail and wholesale trade."

"The outlook for Buick business in this area is excellent. I am informed that the new line of cars represents an even greater value than the 1938 car and that important improvements have been effected in design and engineering."

Mr. King said that production of the 1939 Buicks is in full swing at the factories and that he expects to receive his first stocks of the new cars by the end of September.

NEW CASTLE HIGH DEFEATS BUTLER 19 TO 0

Locals Impressive In Opening Battle

New Castle Gains Victory Over Butler High In Lid-Lifter; Cialella, Gender And Lauro Score Touchdowns; Butler Never Inside Of 20-Yard Line; Piccuta And DeRose Play Fine Game; New Castle Serves Notice On District And W. P. I. A. L.; Line Is Well Balanced; Pony Backfield Looks Good; Over 6,000 Fans At Opening Game.

New Castle High School football team served notice on the Class AA of the W. P. I. A. L. last night that it will have to be reckoned with this year, by defeating a hard fighting Butler High team 19 to 0 before a crowd of over 6,000 fans in the season's inaugural at Taggart Stadium.

Displaying a lot of power, a fast backfield and a well balanced line the New Castle High team looked impressive as they piled up three touchdowns over the invaders from Butler. Joe Gender, Charles Cialella and Lindy Lauro provided the "Red Hurricane" touchdowns. Butler's closest bid for a touchdown was the New Castle 20-yard line.

Locals Score Quickly

New Castle was not long in scoring. Roussos kicked off to Varnum of Butler to start the game. He returned the Butler 37 yard line before being downed by Piccuta. Sandloop picked up seven yards on the first play and then lost four yards. Sandloop fumbled and Piccuta recovered for New Castle on the Butler 43-yard line.

Starting on the Butler 43 the New Castle boys marched right straight down the field in eleven plays and Gender raced over the goal line from the five-yard mark. In the sustaining drive Gender and Sowinski did the most of the ball-lugging. Roussos kicked the extra-point and it was New Castle 7 to Butler's 0.

Following the first touchdown Roussos kicked off to Iannotti of Butler on the Butler 18, who came back to the Butler 34 before being downed by Rucker. Sandloop made eight yards through the New Castle line, and then made it a first down on a nice 11-yard run. The ball was on the New Castle 44 yard line. A Butler pass was no good. Butler worked the ball to the New Castle 28-yard line and lost the ball on downs, just to the point ended.

Lauro Goes Over

New Castle had the ball on their own 28 yard line as the second period began. Lauro made a nice gain through the line. Gender tossed a pass that just missed its mark. Gender then threw another pass good for 36 yards that Sowinski caught for a first down on the Butler 18-yard line. Gender was stopped. Miller and Rasely went into the Butler line. Lauro made it a first down on the Butler 11 yard line. Gender picked up four yards. Gender then hit tackle for three more yards. Lauro took the ball from the Butler three-yard line and raced over for the second New Castle touchdown. Roussos failed to convert the extra-point and it was New Castle 13-Butler 0.

Varnum replaced T. Brown for Butler. Roussos kicked off to Sandloop on the Butler 30 and he came back to the Butler 43-yard line. Sandloop then made eight yards at tackle. Varnum was stopped at the line. A pass Iannotti to Rasely was good for 20 yards and a first down on the New Castle 25-yard line. Sandloop was stopped on a line thrust. DeRose on a guard around play was stopped for a six-yard loss. Two Butler passes were broken up by New Castle. Finally the locals took the ball on their own 23-yard line on downs.

13 To 0 At Half

Palusak and Phillips went into the New Castle lineup. New Castle drew a 15-yard penalty for rough play and had the ball back on their own 13 yard line when the first half ended.

Roussos kicked off to Butler at the start of the third period. Sandloop took the ball and was stopped almost in his tracks. T. Brown went into the Butler lineup. In place of J. Brown, Iannotti passed to Rasely, but it was broken up.

Sandloop kicked to Sowinski on the New Castle 25-yard line. Sowinski made five yards and then Gender booted a beautiful one that Sandloop took on the Butler 31-yard line. Sandloop tried the line and then kicked to Sowinski on the New Castle 43-yard line. Lauro in two plays made a first down, in mid-field.

Cialella Tackles Gender picked up three yards. Cialella made it a first down on the Butler 46-yard line. Gender and Cialella made it another first down on the Butler 36-yard line in two plays. Sowinski made eight yards through the line. Lauro made a first down on the Butler 21-yard line. Gender broke away for a nice 18 yard run and the ball was on the Butler five-yard line. Cialella made the third New Castle touchdown on a nice out back play and then sped through tackle. The third New Castle touchdown came after a sustained drive of 71 yards. Roussos failed at the conversion of the extra-point.

Roussos kicked off to Butler and after two plays at the line by Sandloop and Varnum, the Butler quarterback Iannotti passed and Iannotti, a sub for Cialella, intercepted the ball on the Butler 40-yard line as the third period closed.

Robert's a fast colored boy, replaced Sowinski for New Castle in the backfield as the fourth period began. New Castle drew another 15-yard penalty. Gender kicked to Iannotti of Butler on the Butler 35-yard line. Sandloop tried the line and was stopped. A pass Iannotti to Rasely was good for 18 yards to the New Castle 47-yard line for a first down. Iannotti raced to the New Castle 25-yard line for a Butler first down.

Butler Rally Halted Iannotti then made five through the line and it was on the New Castle 20-yard line. Three Butler passes were broken up by the New Castle boys. It was New Castle's ball on their own 20-yard line.

Cennane replaced Piccuta at end for New Castle and the Mahoning-town boy received a big ovation for the splendid game that he had played at left end, making ever so many tackles and looking the part of a real terminal. Coach Bridenbaugh started to send in his subs. James replaced Lauro at fullback. Palusak took a Butler pass after Gender had booted to Butler.

Butler tried a few plays and Gender kicked to New Castle. Iannotti threw a 29-yard pass to Shuber just as the game ended, with the ball on the Butler 48-yard line.

School Band Adds Color To Opening Of Grid Season

You could have had the same football teams Friday night, the same crowd, the same perfect weather, the same hot dogs and the same good looking girls but without the added touch of color provided by the senior high school band the night would have been less, outstanding than it was.

Joe Replogle has done a few things with the band since last year. It may be the new uniforms that have peaked up the musicians or it may be there has been intensive work done in the matter of close order drill. Anyway the band stood out last night like a musical unit of the regular army and how they tooted up and down the field.

Ahead of the band this year are two color bearers with flag and standard and two color guards. Then the drum major in cream white, the bells playing and the band, very very snappy if you ask us, easy on the eyes and ears.

Even the cheer leaders looked the usual first game hesitancy. The boys hurried themselves into the air with mid-season abandon calling upon the fans to give out for dear old No-Ca-Hi.

Over on the Butler side the team and cheer leaders looked like an August sun-set, or a flock of marigolds. Butler's colors are gold and blue and the uniforms are among the most attractive ever seen here.

There is always one thing that stands out in a Butler-New Castle game and that is the fine sportsmanship. Butler plays hard, but clean, never protests the rulings of the officials, and the team members conduct themselves like the sportsman who guide them. Regis Heinzer. It's the kind of a team you want on your schedule.

Youngstown East Coaches At Game

Faculty Manager Edward R. Smith, Head Coach Barrett, and Assistant Coach Sweeney of Youngstown East, were interested spectators at last night's game with Butler High school, and got a line on the New Castle team in preparation for the game here next Friday evening. They saw a team which gives every promise of being as powerful as any of the local high school teams during recent years.

Nomads Given Midget Trophy

The Nomads midget softball team is the proud possessors today of the midget softball trophy cup donated by the Perelman company. The presentation was made by Franklin R. Orsini, president of the league following the Nomads upset of the DeCaprio team. The Nomads have one of the finest midget teams in the city, and are deserving of the championship.

Bessemer high's 1938 football team opened its season auspiciously, defeating Zelenople high, Friday afternoon at Zelenople. The final score was 26-0.

Grid Scores

Shenango 6, Evans City 0.
Bessemer 26, Zelenople 0.

Pitzer Crashes Through Line For Lone Touchdown In Final Quarter

LOCALS IMPRESSIVE IN SEASON OPENER

Marching down the gridiron like a steam roller, in the final period, Shenango Township high school's sturdy band of Wildcats scored a touchdown and a 6-0 victory over Evans City high, Friday at Evans City.

The righting East New Castle club pushed the ball to the shadow of the final chalk mark on several occasions but lacked the "zip" to visit touchdown land. In the initial period, Shenango traveled to the Evans City 1, only to lose the oval on downs. The locals fought right back to the 2 in the second chapter, but again saw their scoring chance "go with the wind."

Pitzer Scores With Latham, Pitzer and Pallerino making substantial gains in the last canto, Shenango came face to face with the final tripe: the ball rest, the final Pitzer, dug his cleats deep in the sod and then started plowing through the line.

He halted over the land where touchdowns bloom. This climaxed a 45 yard drive. Shenango tried the line for the extra point but failed. Evans City took to the air lines in the latter part of the period. Ulrich tilted the ball to Donaldson, who trotted to the 15 before being nailed. Shenango checked the attack with a splendid defensive display.

Despite the fact that it was the season opener, Shenango played minus a fumble as well as a penalty. All told, the Coach Negera aggregation rolled up 13 first downs against 3 for Evans City. The Wildcats showed promise of developing into a first class grid machine with more practice and game experience. The entire eleven lads share the orchids. Donaldson and Ulrich played well for the losers.

Friday afternoon, Shenango opens the home season tackling Freedom high.

GAME SUNDAY

The Rads and Amodes will not play the eighth and final game of the city softball series on Sunday it was announced by Franklin R. Orsini, president of the league today. The managers were unable to get together on a Sunday game and so the final game will have to wait until next Sunday, it is believed.

Vale, minus all American Clint Frank and his star backfield mates—Hessberg, Colwell and Ewart—faces a tough schedule with high morale. The blue line is strong except at center, and the backfield is better than average.

Dick Harlow's Harvard eleven needs a good ball carrier or two to be great. It will be scrambling for the Ivy title, but doesn't figure to top the loop.

May Not Make Grade Princeton, the other big three member, under Coach Ted Wieman has the material to be a great team, but probably won't quite make the grade. Heavy in backs and linemen, the Tiger has the makings of a well-rounded outfit but lacks standout stars. Jack White and Charley Toll will be missed sorely.

Army and navy are in sort of the same predicament, and don't rate as potent as usual. The soldiers have a new coach, Bill Wood, who has not had a chance to get in step with the cadets. The line is weak, short of experienced reserves, but Captain Schwenk and his sickle Frantz possess the backfield power.

Have Fine Line Navy's line, on the other hand, is well put together, but the backfield lacks a first class ball-toter.

Pop Warner's Owls at Temple have a grueling card of seven first rate opponents and probably will find victory difficult to acquire with a dearth of speedy backs. The Temple line is rugged and deep in reserves.

New York University, Columbia, Colgate, Boston college, Penn State and Carnegie Tech are counted on for their share of triumphs, but at this stage of the practice season they scarcely appear as luminaries of the East.

The consensus has Pitt at the top and it will take a rugged opponent to topple the Panther from his perch.

Plan To Give Pitt Panthers Fight For 1938 Football Title

Holy Cross, Fordham, Dartmouth Are Expected To Have Strong Teams This Year

Pitt Panther Will Be Powerful Again, Will Have Great Backfield Is Indicated

By ANTHONY J. PUGLIESE International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Pitt Panther prowls again! That, in brief, is the key to the collegiate football championship in the East, football observers agree, but pressing Pittsburgh for sectional honors will be Dartmouth, Fordham, Cornell, Villanova, Holy Cross and possibly Harvard.

Coach Jack Sutherland has the ace backfield of the country in Marshall Goldberg, Dick Cassano, Hal Stebbins and Johnny Chickernoe. Aided by an adequate line, the Panthers will probably go through their "suicide" schedule without a blemish—perhaps to a national championship.

Pitt Will Be Strong Tied only by Fordham last season, Pitt is expected to run roughshod over all its opposition, including the Rams, thus breaking a sequence of three scoreless encounters. Built around the fast stepping and brilliant Bill Hutchinson and Bob McLeod, Dartmouth's White Indians are given the top rating in the Ivy league. The one stumbling block in the path of Coach Red Blak's tribe is Cornell, a powerful and capable unit.

The big Red, under Carl Shavely, is fashioned about a veteran lineup containing nine first team seniors. Cornell is heavy in material, topped by Bud Holland, flashy negro end. Clipper Smith's wildcats at Villanova are touted for another undefeated season. With Johnny Wyszowski's offense will once again be clicking.

Holy Cross, undefeated but tied last year, comes back with a well-rounded team paced by Bill Osmanski, hard-running fullback. Osmanski lightens the worries of Dr. Eddie Anderson, who is gunning for a top spot among the eastern leaders.

Fordham Loses Many Fordham's seven blocks of granite have been riddled by graduation and the Ram eleven is not as strong defensively as in 1937, when it was undefeated but tied by Pitt. Coach Jimmy Crowley loses out on defense, but his offense will be more powerful. It is difficult to replace a Wozniak, a two-way player, and a Franco, but backfield power will offset any loss of line strength. Fordham will be near the crest of the pack.

Gaining momentum as they go, Syracuse will be stronger than last year. Ossie Soiem lost only three regulars by graduation and threatens to turn out a team capable of overcoming Colgate, and perhaps Cornell. He has drilled the Orange squad thoroughly in fundamentals and is ready for a successful campaign.

Vale, minus all American Clint Frank and his star backfield mates—Hessberg, Colwell and Ewart—faces a tough schedule with high morale. The blue line is strong except at center, and the backfield is better than average.

Philadelphia Eagles handed the Pittsburgh Pirates their third straight defeat in the National Professional Football league at Buffalo last night, 27 to 7. The Eagles scored one touchdown in the opening period, two in the second and another in the third before Whizzer White finally managed to crash over from the one foot line for the only Buck tally midway in the last period.

TITANS SELECT GRID CAPTAINS

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 17.—Honoring their three senior squad members, Westminster's football lettermen yesterday named Henry Throup, Bessemer; Frank Bretholme, Carnegie and Earl Wright, Bellevue, as grid captains for the 1938 Titan season, which opens October 1, with Bethany.

Throup, 185-pound center, will lead the Titans against Bethany, California Teachers and Grove City. Bretholme, also a pivot man, will captain the Blue and White in the Tidel. Geneva and Youngstown games, while Wright, 175-pound fullback, will lead Coach Washbaugh's eleven in the Edinboro and Slippery Rock tilts.

All three men were regulars last season, and are members of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Nomads Win Midget League Title Here

To claim the Midget League title for New Castle, the Nomad softball team defeated the DeCaprios, and took the best out of three games, at the Dean Park field.

Tony Tuscano on the mound for the Nomads limited the losers to five scattered hits and two runs. The heavy slugger, Nomads had seven hits from a Congina, two of them being home runs by Johnny Vargo and Weeds Lelli. Parou, Mumeys and Ausino had the other hits.

This win gave the Nomads a record of 24 wins and seven losses in the Midget League this year.

Score by innings: Nomads . . . 000 110 202—6
DeCaprios . . . 000 001 010—2
Batteries: Nomads, Tuscano and S. Wright; DeCaprios, Congina and DiMuccio.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Pirates Divide Two With Bees

Win First Game In 11-Innings Then Drop Second
Game 5 To 4

REDS SPLIT TWO WITH PHILLIES

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Twenty-game winners are going to be rare birds among the pitching fraternity of both major leagues this year. Today it appears probable that not more than three in each league will turn in a score of victories.

Red Ruffing of the Yanks made the grade some time ago and Paul Derringer of the Reds yesterday became the first National Leaguer to turn the trick.

Reds Divide
Bill Lee and Clay Bryant of the Cubs may win 20 before the season closes. Bill has 18 to his credit and Clay has 16. Lefty Gomez of the Yanks and Buck Newsom of the lowly Browns, each with 17 decisions, also may land in the magic circle.

Derringer made the grade when, with the aid of Ernie Lombardi's 17th homer, he trimmed the Phils 2 to 0 in the first half of a double-header. The Reds had a grand chance to close some of the gap between themselves and the Pirates by taking the second game, but, as so often happens to pennant contenders, they ran up against a pitcher—Hugh Mulcahy—at his best and the ace of the tallenders let them down with three hits and won, 2-1.

Pirates Split
The Reds have justification for feeling that if they had had the steady use of Johnny (No-Hit) Vander Meer and Lee Grissom all summer, they would now be far out in front of the procession. Even so, they still have a fighting chance.

The Pirates remained three games ahead of the idle Cubs by splitting a nerve-racking doubleheader with the bustling Bees. Johnny Rizzo's 20th homer in the 11th inning gave the Pirates the opener, 7-6. But they blew the second one in the ninth, 5-4. Pie Traynor must have added a few more gray hairs to his rapidly growing collection when he saw his team apparently put the game on ice with two runs in the first half of the ninth and then blow the lead in the last half when the Bees put over three runs.

Yanks Top Tigers
The Cardinals assured themselves of at least a six-place finish by taking a pair from the doddering Dodgers, 4-1 and 8-4.

There were only two games in the American League. The Yanks took the Tigers, 6 to 4, and now need only two more victories to clinch the pennant.

Joe Gordon's 23rd homer and Frank Crosetti's eighth, each with a man on base, helped Lefty Gomez win his 17th victory. Hank Greenberg hit his 51st homer off Gomez, and has 16 games left in which to make nine more homers to equal Babe Ruth's record 60. That's a large order and one he can hardly be expected to fill.

The Red Sox increased their second place margin to two games by stopping the Indians, 2-1. The Sox made only four hits off Dennis Galehouse but bunched half of them with a pass for both their hitters.

Eligible Players, Series Dates Set

First Game Of World's Series Will Be Held On National League Winners Field

Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago Cubs And Giants Still Have Pennant Chance

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The world series will open Wednesday, Oct. 5, in the National League club winning the pennant. It was decided today at a meeting presided over by Commissioner Kennesaw M. Landis, Joe Harbridge and Ford Frick, presidents of the American and National leagues, and representatives of the Pirates, Cubs, Reds, Giants and Yankees attended.

In case of a tie in the feverish National league race, the series start may be put back well into the second week of October. A two out of three game playoff will be staged to decide the winner in the event of a tie and the series will not start until the third day after the deadlock is decided.

If Pittsburgh, Cincinnati or the Giants win the pennant, there will be no day off for travel and the series will be resumed at the Yankee Stadium on Oct. 7. However, should Chicago win, there will be a day taken out for traveling after the second game, putting the series in the Bronx on Oct. 8.

Prices Remain Same

Prices will remain the same as in other years, with the tariff $6.60 for boxes, $5.50 for reserved seats, $3.50 for general admission and $1.10 for bleachers. As in other series, only blocks of three will be sold for the boxes. The Yankees announced they will begin taking world series reservations tomorrow. They have informed Landis that the stadium will have a seating capacity of 70,029 for the series, divided among 4,744 box seats at $6.60, 37,285 reserved seats at $5.50, 14,000 unreserved seats at $3.50 and 14,000 bleachers at $1.10, which would make the total receipts, in the event of a sellout, $297,997. ## Four Power Peace Parley Seems Likely

(International News Service)

ROME, Sept. 17.—Possibility that four power conversation among Italy, Britain, France and Germany may soon be launched in an effort to settle outstanding European issues was foreshadowed today by diplomatic developments in Rome.

It was believed that Lord Perth, British ambassador to Italy may return to Rome ahead of schedule on Monday, instead of next month, as previously planned.

He may bring with him, it was said, a British cabinet proposal that the proposed four-power talks get under way in the near future.

A path for the four-power conference, which may be held in Berlin, was said to have been prepared during a meeting last night between Italian foreign minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and Sir Noel Charles, British charge d'affaires.

Ciano and Sir Noel were understood to have reviewed the general European situation at length, with the Italian foreign minister supporting Chancellor Hitler's demands regarding Czechoslovakia and advocating the Italian plan for a general plebiscite for all Czechoslovakia's minority groups.

Czechs Would Have U. S. Act For Government

In Event Of War U. S. Would Be Asked To Take Over Consular Activities

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Czechoslovakia has approached the American government informally concerning possibility of the United States taking over its consular activities in Germany in the event of war. Secretary of State Hull said today in confirming an exclusive International News Service dispatch from Berlin.

Hull said that a Czechoslovakian consular official had approached an American consular official in Berlin in an informal manner, but that no official approach has as yet been made by the Czech government directly to Washington. Under such circumstances, he declined to say what the American attitude to such a request would be.

The subject discussed, said the state department secretary, was the possibility of the American consulate in Berlin taking over Czechoslovakian affairs there should an emergency come and Czechoslovakia withdraw its representative from the Reich.

Such procedure, it was explained, is normal in the event of war. At such times a neutral country usually is requested to represent the power at war in the matters of treatment of its nationals and their property rights. When the United States went to war with Germany in the World War, this country asked Spain, a neutral, to act for it.

Alley Rats Meet Next Wednesday

Annual Reunion Of Famous Organization To Take Place At Muddy Creek

Back about 30 years ago or a little more, a gang of youngsters used to hang around a lively stable in an alley back of East street. Most of them were athletes, all of them were pals and for a long time they were known as the Nesha-nock club.

A few years later they decided to organize and the name Alley Rats was selected. Still later, in 1915, an annual reunion was decided upon and every year since then the Alley Rats have gotten together every year, usually at a camp on the Muddy Creek, and this year the reunion will be held Wednesday afternoon and evening, September 21.

When the Alley Rats organized they selected F. B. Harlan as president; William J. Connery as vice president; E. D. Harlan as secretary, and Edward Connery as treasurer. They have never changed officers. Like Tennyson's brook, they go on forever, and as long as they are still breathing all of them will be in the same official position.

By now the reunion of the Alley Rats has become a tradition. A "Rat" might miss a meal or two, he might not go home early now and then, he might even forget to mail his wife's letter, but he never forgets the annual reunion.

Out of the Alley Rats have come a number of fine athletes, that is, they were fine athletes years ago. Cy Ingham, Ferd Griffith, Clayton Jones, Weir Emerick, Jack and Ed McCaughey, Art Heape, Lee Horner, Earl and Lou Harlan, Doc Rice, Jim Carson, Bill Egan, these and a host of others made history for New Castle high school long before the present crop of stars was born.

A national photographic magazine has asked to come in and make a pictorial record of this year's reunion and it is probable the photographer will be here early Wednesday afternoon.

Some of the "Rats" have Dr. or Attorney before their names, some of them are industrial executives, out through the years they have clung to the associations back of the lively stable.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

This outlooker is rather pleased with the news that the Post Office department is planning to print a special issue of baseball stamps. Philatelists should be delighted. With such Olympians as Joe DiMaggio, Mel Ott and Johnny Vandermeer on the stamps, the collecting urge of youngsters should be fanned up to a cyclonic pitch.

But as to permanent values, they might be much harder to stabilize than stamps bearing the likeness of a mere president. There is a hard exaltation in the decimal raising of batting performance, the rigors of which presidents and statesmen in general happily avoid. A president, if he isn't impeached, rates a place in our Pantheon and a run on a postage stamp, sooner or later, even if he never batted above .200. Picking ballplayers for this sunny corner would seem to put the whole postage stamp business more on its merits. The populace would begin to yell, "throw that bum out," as the batting average sagged; his stamp rating would slump and we have a new issue with the picture of some youngster on the up-and-up.

It would be gratifying if we could have a political box-score, showing runs, hits, put-outs, assists, errors, earned runs, stolen bases and the like. Not even in the long backward view can we even approach such precision in our appraisal of our public men. Many an illustrious windjammer has passed into history, with no delimitation of "shadow and substance," no sharp appraisal of mind or deeds, a mythical person to begin with, his ghost still walking the earth.

And pertinent to news of ballplayers on postage stamps, I offer, in contrast, the merciless and salutary critiques of the sports world. No "cross of gold" speech, no happy issue out of a convention log-jam ever figured in the attainments, the pay, the rating or the fame of a big-league ballplayer. No press agent ever conjured up a great ballplayer out of thin air. The stimulus to unaided effort has brought superlative skill, not only in baseball but in many other branches of sport.

The poised pop bottle, using it figuratively as a symbol of the alert critical mood, has, I believe, added greatly in all this. A fumble-footed English cricketer can miff an easy catch and the crowd will murmur.

"Well tried, Swiftfington." One of our lads can do everything but climb a tree to snag the ball and the stands will roar, "Send that tramp back to the cactus!"

But when it comes to politics and government, the story is reversed. The British watch their politicians and howl them down if they bust an easy one or cut a base. Malfeasance in public office in England is but a small percentage of what it is in this country.

I have an idea that if you could quiz all the commuters on the commuter in the morning, you would find them packed to the gunwales with detailed and specific knowledge of the standing of the clubs, batting averages, past performance, and what not, and you could kick up a dozen arguments about the chances of this club and that, or the comparative merits of players. And I will also lay a small bet that individually and collectively the car would be blanked by a simple questionnaire about county government—assessments, taxes, county indebtedness, etc., and that most of the sovereign citizens would be unable to name the congressmen from their district. Their township or county might have been ribbed, robbed, ravaged and swindled by snide politicians and they wouldn't have known about it until some newspaper kicked up a fuss. There would have been no yell of "kill the umpire!"

Once, out in a sunny little Arcady of the arts on the west coast, I heard a complaint from a highly competent young artist.

"It is almost impossible for an artist to come through here," he said. "Everything we do gets reciprocal backscratches. The papers boom third rate artists, along with those who really have something. The result is that we suffer from the lack of hard exact and informed criticism. It is impossible for worth while art to emerge under such conditions. Alert and just criticism is just as necessary as the creative power itself."

Certainly, ballplayers on postage stamps would be one way to direct the mind and emotions of the masses to its government, in the spirit of relentless and salutary criticism which my friend invoked.

On Court House Hill

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Thomas A. Daley to Alfred E. Milbrath, Ellwood City, $1.
James Bathgate to James Bathgate, First ward, $1.

County commissioners report that concrete is being poured on the north end of the new state road which is being constructed at Hillsville.

In the estate of the late Jane H. Smith, a petition for specific performance of a contract, was presented to court. During her lifetime Mrs. Smith had agreed to sell a property on Winter avenue to Mary Richards for $8,000. Part payment had been made at the time of her death. The court made an order directing the executor, Ernest Henry Smith to make a deed for the property to a son of the purchaser, B. R. Richards, who is to pay the balance due.

County commissioners have been having considerable trouble in getting a delinquent tax collector for the country districts. Practically all of the constables have refused to collect the taxes as there is scarcely anything in it for them. The county believes that if all of the county, outside of New Castle and Ellwood City, where collectors have been appointed, is turned over to one man, there will be more incentive to take the job. The collecting is done on a five per cent commission, and as many of the delinquent claims are for less than one dollar, it can readily be seen why it is hard to get a collector. He would be expected to furnish and operate his own automobile. If collections are made at homes, there is some talk now of having the collector sit at different places throughout the county on specified days. It is figured that the larger claims might be secured in that way, but what to do about the small ones is a puzzle.

Will of the late Emily J. Carpenter, late of the Fourth ward, has been admitted to probate at the office of Register and Recorder Orville Potter. Decedent leaves her son-in-law, Chester P. Reynolds, $600. All the residue of the estate is to be divided equally among the following persons: Clara M. Carpenter, daughter-in-law; Edys M. Carpenter, Paul C. Reynolds, Esther H. Reynolds and Emily G. Reynolds. The executor named is Chester P. Reynolds.

Permit from the State Board of Health for the borough of Wampum to go ahead with the installation of a sewer system and sewage disposal plant, has been filed at the register and recorder's office. The sewage disposal plant is to be constructed on the river side of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, between Orchard and Church streets. The town is to have a complete sewer system, and the permit gives the rules and regulations under which it is to be built.

County of Lawrence will be relieved of paying medical bills for indigents, beginning October 1st, according to the county commissioners. Under a new act the state is to take over medical dental and drug bills. The county has been paying $500 a month to Lawrence county physicians for this work, and the new program relieves them of this responsibility.

Start of the program makes available to relief families the services of physicians, dentists and druggists. Relief recipients will have the right to select their own physicians and dentists. The fees which will be allowed by the state, according to word from Harrisburg are as follows: For office calls, $1. for home visits, within five miles of the physicians' office $2. over five miles five cents a mile; Obstetric cases, $25, with adequate pre natal and post natal care; home and office X-rays, $5.

Dentists will receive for first extraction, $2, and for each additional one, $1, including anaesthetic, the total not to exceed $5. There is also a scale of prices which will be paid druggists for filling prescriptions.
